Hotel Bel-Air Spa by LA PRAIRIE, located in Los Angeles

The world today is ultra-digital and always busy. In the midst of all the hustle it can be hard to find the time to relax. If this story sounds all too familiar to you, it might be time for a day at the spa. The best spas pride themselves on being relaxing, rejuvenating, and the most perfect vacation you can fit into one day. The Forbes-rated 5-star Hotel Bel-Air Spa by La Prairie, located in Los Angeles, is one such chic establishment. After a recent facelift, it has quickly risen up the charts as one of the premier spas on the West Coast.

When you show up at the Hotel Bel-Air Spa, you're greeted with the perfect combination of luxury and the great outdoors. Located on 12 acres with beautiful gardens surrounding the pristinely designed structure, the spa's design is focused on connecting the experience of nature with sophisticated leisure. Staying close to Mother Nature helps relax and soothe; but heated massage tables, warm towels upon arrival, and head-to-toe beauty treatment can really take you to another level.

High-level spas cater to your individual needs; so when you're choosing your facials, massages, and treatments you'll have a wide variety of options. If having too many choices intimidates you, don't fret. Explain your needs and they'll help you pick the right options.

FACIALS

When you're ready for your facial, you'll be greeted with 10 different options that range from caviar to microdermabrasion to platinum. Because anti-aging is a prominent focus at the Hotel Bel-Air Spa, most of the facials focus on lifting, firming, and smoothing skin. Who doesn't love looking young?

The spa's newest specialty, which has powerful anti-aging abilities, is the Advanced Marine Biology Facial. Unique healing and restorative plants are found deep in the ocean; and this facial uses those qualities to give you a fresh, young, and glowing look. Nature lovers don't be afraid! The plant-gathering process is completely eco-friendly. The oceanic materials are collected from a protected environment using sustainable aquaculture technology.

The 90-minute Advanced Marine Biology Facial is clearly more than your run-of-the-mill facial. A warm water-filled hydromat kicks off your experience with a true aquatic feel. The seaweed mask, hot stone foot treatment and cold stone face treatment will leave your mind feeling refreshed and have your body thanking you for the relief and improved circulation.

MASSAGES

Different cultures have their own methods of massage to lead to healing and relaxation. Rather than limit itself to just one specialty, the Hotel Bel-Air Spa has both European and Asian styles of massage. Their specialty massage is the Caviar Signature Massage. Skin caviar is used during the 60-minute massage to nourish and energize. Other popular options include intense deep tissue and relaxing aromatherapy massages.

One massage of note is the pre/post natal massage. Specifically designed for those expecting or with newborns, the massage relieves stress on joints to ease the pain that is so commonly associated with pregnancy.

NAILS

When you leave the spa, you want to look radiant and flawless; so chipped nail polish and undone toes just won't do. Manicures and pedicures range from the simple "Perfect Manicure," which includes a hand and forearm massage and leaves your nails pristinely shaped and colored, all the way to gel and caviar manicures for those who feel a little more adventurous.

FOR THE GENTS

The idea that spa days are only for girls is severely outdated. Guys deserve some pampering too! There is a whole list of options focusing on men; whether you're a man looking for a relaxing day or a woman wanting to bring your beau along. Manicures, pedicures, facials, and massages are designed to fit into your schedule and leave you looking handsome and feeling refreshed.

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE

For the most elite experience, Hotel Bel-Air Spa offers a day at the Enclave. It's the grand experience—a private suite that includes a shaded patio complete with a waterfall. Of course, you have your own bathtub and shower, but there are also optional luxuries that include a personal spa butler. The Enclave is ideal for a romantic getaway or for a small gathering for up to 10 people.

Visiting a 5-star spa will leave you feeling relieved, relaxed, and ready to get back to your busy schedule. To schedule a visit at the Hotel Bel-Air Spa by La Prairie, visit hotelbelair.com or call 310-909-1681.

hen it comes to vintage fashion, rummaging through your grandmother's closet isn't enough. And if we're being honest, neither is your local thrift store. Just like the search for a 1920s flapper dress for that Great Gatsby themed party you are throwing, finding a place that will offer you the highest quality vintage merchandise at the most affordable price is no easy task. Luckily for you, we have pulled together some of the best decades-resurrection stores and boutiques from around the world that are home to the most unique and desirable designer fashions. You might as well start booking your flights and packing your bags now (make sure to leave enough room for your soon-to-be purchases from the past, of course)!

With a preference for '40s to '60s vintage clothing, Playclothes has a specific customer in mind. For women and girls, the store offers everything from poodle skirts and sun dresses to silk/rayon shirts and beaded sweaters. Meanwhile, the men and boys can find the ever-stylish Hawaiian shirts and pleated pants, including smaller items such as cuff links or even socks. Playclothes's period merchandise has even been featured in films such as Benjamin Button, Dreamgirls and Indiana Jones.

Offering unique designer fashions from the '50s up to the '90s, Screaming Mimi's is a destination for rare but classic vintage finds. Both men and women can find quirky sweaters or traditional hound's-tooth suits at an affordable price. Each piece is undeniably from a different time, which is part of the appeal. Items such as a simple vintage Dolce & Gabbana cardigan can easily be made new by pairing it with a modern blouse or bottom.

By paying close attention to detail, MAD Vintage Couture has collected vintage couture clothing that is treated like fine art. Every hand-picked piece comes from a previous decade but makes sense in the fashion world today. The quality of the fabrics and the style of each designer fashion offer a contemporary look at a past trend. With designers such as Yves Saint Laurent, Hanae Mori, and Gucci, you are sure to find a vintage jewel that will fit perfectly inside your modern closet.

MAD Vintage Couture 167 E 87th St New York 10128/212-427-4333

In order to ensure that each designer vintage piece is wearable and contemporary, The Way We Wore selects only the most desirable fashions for Los Angeles shoppers. The merchandise spans the entire 20th century, enabling you to find an Edwardian Lace & Crochet Wedding Gown or a classic 1960's Beaded Cocktail Dress. The store does not cater to any specific woman, allowing for unexpected finds and an overall pleasurable shopping experience.

Owned by fashion expert Franco Jacassi, Vintage Delirium is a showroom that consists of 19th century fabrics and '80s Versace couture. What began as a hobby for Jacassi turned into an international career when he travelled the world to collect the best vintage pieces. As a result, the store now offers an extensive collection at the highest demand and value, featuring brand names such as Dior, Pucci, Hermés, Balenciaga, and more.

Translating to "In Rags," Chez Chiffons believes in the possibility of rags to riches. In order to give each garment a fresh look, the store ensures its repair, cleanliness, and affordability. With more than 300 vintage pieces to choose from, women can expect authentic designer vintage clothing that is given a new life. #### EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

We are here with the beautiful Joanna Krupa at her amazing home in Los Angeles. The lights are flashing, the clothes are out and it is a gorgeous day.

Hello Joanna,

Are you having fun on your RUNWAY cover shoot?

I always try to have fun on all my shoots, because I love what I do and it makes it even more enjoyable working with people you trust like Mario Barberio.

What are your favorite designers for red carpet?

I always mix it up from Michael Costello to Elisabetta Franci and styles from Reve Boutique to Walter Mendez to House of Celeb Boutique. I also love For The Stars Fashion House with such amazing designers like Elie Madi and Rocky Gathercole. To me, it's not the price or designer, but the way it looks on me. So it easily can be something inexpensive.

Tell us about your shoes!

I love high heels. Shoes make you feel sexy. As soon as you put on a fabulous pair, they make you feel hot, confident and make your legs look good as it brings out the muscles and makes your butt look better and firm. They change your posture and make any outfit look amazing.

JOANNA KRUPA

How about bags, what do you rock?

Stella McCartney because all her bags are vegan and I love that she is cruelty free. I feel there is no reason to kill and torture innocent animals for fashion.

I heard you're busy on the set.

Tell us about your upcoming films. I am excited about my two upcoming films. The first one is "You Can't Have It" with Armand Assante and Rob Gronkowski. I play one of the leading roles, where I am a bartender that's really an undercover agent. The second film is "Another Day in Paradise", where I play a park nurse staring Frankie Muniz. I also just finished filming my 6th season of Poland's "Top Model".

Where did you learn to dance?

When I was a little girl between 5-10 years old, I took ballet, but I had to quit because my parents had financial troubles. My biggest dream came true when I stared in "Dancing with the Stars" and I learned how to dance then. It was one of the best days of my life. Unfortunately, I haven't continued to dance since the show. It takes a lot of you, requires dedication and a great partner. With my busy schedule it's hard to pursue.

What do you do for fun?

I love to hike and bike ride to keep in shape.

What are your favorite places to visit in Miami?

Mynt Lounge, which is the hottest nightclub in Miami and it's owned by my husband. My favorite place to eat is Niaraya and Bal Harbour Shops.

Do you have pets?

I have 6 dogs. One of them I started out just fostering, but he is very sick with a heart murmur so we will end up keeping him. 1- Sebastian cavalier King Charles Spaniel 2- Prince Yorkie mix

- 4- Shaggy Terrier mix

6- Cinnamon cavalier King Charles Spaniel

What's your favorite social media?

Instagram because there is less drama and more photos.

Any advice for new talent?

Keep fighting for what you believe in and never give up. The business is tough and there is tons of competition, so you have to have a thick skin in order to stay sane and positive.

What are your favorite designers?

I would have to say that without a doubt, My Favorite Designers are Rocky & Jacob. Jacob the Founder and the Creator of "For the Stars Fashion House" has a well-tailored, classy costume boutique for all occasions. His partner Rocky is the Ultimate of Fashion Designers. The "For the Stars Fashion House" has the most Spectacular style of Fashion's best, and their "Out of this world" shoes, along with a wide variety of accessories, that bar none, are the best you can acquire anywhere. With constant Fashion Shows to show off their high rated costumes, Jacob and Rocky always aim to please, and they hit that mark every time.

Tell us about your personal style.

My personal style all depends on the day. To relax I wear comfortable shorts or jeans with a T-Shirt and my Nike tennis shoes. When Out on the Town, out come my polished Italian Tween fashioned shoes. My well pressed black or deep blue suits, from the Damt / Tween Company, with matching ties. My choice of color is contingent on my mood at the time. I like to present myself with a touch of Class so therefore, my accessories give my wardrobe that final touch of elegance.

What are your most memorable experiences on set?

I recently had the pleasure of attending the "Johnny Crisstopher Charity Foundation" and "HELP" in Las Vegas. Criss Angel, one of the most famous "illusionists" to date, opened the stage to some of the Top Stars for Entertainment. His goal is to raise awareness for Pediatric Cancer, and that in the end Cancer would be no more. Donations poured in all evening, and there was never a dry eye in the house. I felt so privileged, to be on stage with Criss Angel, and to witness a most heartfelt evening in many years. It was a night to remember forever. A memorable experience, for sure. #### What was your favorite role?

I was type cast in a role that worked me harder than any other role in my career so far. Soccer is one tough game, and because I was the number one soccer player, I trained hard and had to play soccer ever day for hours, until I could prove that I could be that number one soccer player. This game, as difficult as it was, gave me strength, courage to go the extra mile, and it lifted my self-esteem higher than ever. My role as the number one soccer player gave me a sense of how it feels to win. To be the first, the best, and the unbeatable, took every drop of Blood, Sweat and Tears, and in the end, it was the most gratifying role in my career's history.

How do you spend your free time?

Free time is precious in this business, so my number one goal is to get as much rest as possible. I have a beautiful dog "Skyla", who is my best friend. I take her to the park every day. I meet up with some of my close friends and go to dinner to catch up with some interesting conversation. I work out at the gym at least 4 times a week, to keep my body in shape.

What kind of car do you drive?

I have a Porsche Carerra Convertible 2009. With the many beautiful sites to see here in Los Angeles, my convertible is a charm to drive. I also have a Mercedes Benz C 300 2010 for those days when the air conditioner is a relief from the heat. I feel blessed with this car.

Are you a morning person or a night person?

My mornings are sacred to me. It is the time when there is no one around, with no chatter or noise to shut down. These are the moments of reflection, meditation and calm for me. It is during these moments, that I am thankful to God, and for all the people who have Faith, who Believed in me, and have helped me get to where I am today. I use this time to clear my head, and just be. Some deep breathing exercises work well, to keep me centered. I love mornings, the Sun is out, the sky is clear, I have had my breakfast, my coffee and now I am ready for the day.

KATIE GARFIELD EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

Did you have fun on your shoot today?

I had a blast!! It was so much fun getting to work with everyone and be a part of such a creative shoot! Any time I get to wear gorgeous clothes and work with talented people, I'm happy!

What are your favorite ready to wear designers?

I was lucky enough to be dressed in a few gorgeous Aidan by Aidan Mattox dresses for some events recently, and I fell in LOVE with the shapes and colors of the dresses. They are beautifully made and I felt dressed to the nines! For daytime looks, I'm a total Urban Outfitters junkie. I love how casual yet chic their clothes are, and I can always find something I love.

How about shoes, what do you rock on daily basis?

Honestly, I love a good strappy sandal in the summertime, and I've been loving my Moschino sandals this year. They're comfortable and go with EVERYTHING in my closet. I'm looking for the weather to get chilly - I've got some new leather boots I'm excited to wear!!

What are your favorites for the red carpet?

For the red carpet, I love anything that makes me feel good! Nothing is more fun than going to showrooms and picking dresses for fun events- it's sort of a dream-come-true for me as a girl!

Tell us about your trip to Sundance.

Sundance was incredible- I had never been before and so I wasn't sure what to expect. But being there with "The Birth of a Nation" FAR exceeded my expectations. We were so well-received by the audiences, and it was so exciting to celebrate such a powerful film. Park City, Utah (where Sundance is held) is absolutely stunning- the main street where all of the Sundance events take place looks straight from a postcard! I had a blast.

What music do you have coming out?

Well I just signed my first music publishing deal as a songwriter, which has been a dream of mine for a really long time. I signed with a great company in Nashville called Young Guns Publishing, and I'm writing for TV/Film and for my own artist project, which I'm really excited about. My individual sound has morphed over the years and has settled into a cinematic, dark pop vibe.

Gold dress by Olena Dats' Gold mayan cuff with open cut out design by Charles Albert Blue Topaz rectangle adjustable ring by Charles Albert Heels by J. Maurice

What is your favorite band?

That's a really hard question!! I listen to so much music and have such broad taste, so it's hard to narrow it down. But lately I've been listening to 'Borns' and 'Fitz and the Tantrums' a lot- their sounds are so groovy and infectious.

What are your influences?

A lot of my inspiration for writing comes from film, and the whole idea of fairytalesgone-wrong. My songwriting process is pretty funny, because most of the time I see a sort-of music video or mini-film playing in my head and I write the lyrics in a story format like that. It's a weird process, but it works for me and allows me to keep the lyrics really visual and tangible.

Tell us about your upcoming film.

I'm so excited for the world to see "The Birth of a Nation"- it's a masterpiece and I couldn't be more proud of the rest of the cast and crew. It's the story of Nat Turner, a slave in Virginia in the 1800's who led a rebellion against slave-owners. It's a story of injustice, redemption and absolute bravery. It puts the spotlight on an incredibly important person in America's history, and his story of faith and hope of leading his people to freedom. I'm so proud of this film and can't wait for October 7th when it'll be in theaters.

Any advice to new talent?

The one piece of advice I give to anyone who asks, is to always work harder than you think you have to. It's your dream and your life- and that deserves 100% of your energy and commitment. And of course, have fun. If we're not having fun and enjoying our lives, then nothing is worth it. I'm really happy in my life right now, and having a LOT of fun doing what I love.

How are you doing today?

I'm great! Shooting season 2 of Underground in HOT Savannah, very excited to share soon.

Tell us about your personal style?

I'm a jeans guy. G-Star Raw, Levi's, casual with a bit of edge but when I'm out for an event I love to look sharp in a well-tailored blazer/suit/tux.

Who are your favorite ready to wear designers?

G-star Raw, John Varvatos, Zara, Suit Supply, J Crew. It's hard to name them all because I pick and choose pieces from designers who excite me.

What are your choices of fashion for the red carpet?

Like I said, I love to look sharp. Very fitted. Classic. Then on some days, I want to push the envelope a bit with an outfit from Turk or Saint Laurent. I gotta keep you guessing. I want to wear things that have a bit of pop to them and allow me to have the best of all worlds.

What was is like coming from such a large family?

It's interesting to say the least. I did learn a lot about finding my individuality. We aren't close in age so we weren't wearing each other's clothes. I had a front row seat to learning from my siblings' success and challenges. And from that, I learned who I wanted to be.

Tell us about your upcoming movie Loving for Focus Features?

Loving is about the landmark case Loving vs. Virginia. In which an interracial couple got married and were banned from living in the state of Virginia. That court ruling was one of the most important and powerful rulings in American history. I play Raymond Green who is Richard Loving's best friend. It was a profound friendship, and a very unassuming one. We don't show this in the film, but Richard actually died in Raymond's arms. Loving is a beautiful and relevant film, and I'm proud to be a part of it.

What can we expect to see in season two of WGN's Underground?

OHHH. I don't think anyone is ready for season 2 of Underground. I'm so excited!! I can only say that this season is gut punching. It will challenge the way we've seen these main characters. So many brilliant themes this year that are so relevant to the times we are in. This season is bolder, bigger, an all-out brawl. We're taking it the next level!

What is the craziest thing that's ever happened to you on set?

On Jane, the Virgin my character has a death scene in which he is impaired by an ice sculpture. I had to balance my entire body using one leg while laying on a very fragile and freezing ice sculpture. It took everything in me to stop shaking so they could get the shot. It was amazing once it was all done. My leg grew three sizes that day.

What is your favorite color?

Blue. It covers the gambit of moods.

How about your favorite food?

Lasagna. Why did you ask me this question? Now all I want is lasagna right now. It's so good and it's also very hard to find great lasagna. And I can't eat any of that because I'm shooting. WHY GOD WHY!!!

Where is your favorite place on Earth?

Wherever my wife is. When I'm with her places seem to come to life. Her energy and light bring out the beauty of a place.

Do you support any charities?

I'm working on it. My wife and I are interested in supporting causes against domestic violence, better educational outlets, and mentorships for young people of color.

Do you have any advice for new actors?

Don't be in a rush to be successful or to get it right. Timing is everything, enjoy the process. I constantly thought I was ready for the next level and then when I got to the next level, I was ready. It's funny how that works. If you're meant to be an actor then you'll be an actor. The question is are you willing to accept what that looks like in your life? It may not be red carpets, magazine spreads, and major awards but it may be you changing so many lives on stage or in schools. Your greatness isn't dependent on your exposure but the effectiveness with which you sharpen the lives you touch. We've been called as artist to challenge the norm, to hold up a mirror and to give voice to the voiceless. So get to work, there's a lot of people who need you.

Photography by Rowan Daly

Tell us about your personal style? Describe what is your normal everyday look is like?

I'm very much a casual dresser most of the time. I like wearing clothes that are comfortable and practical. Very much a jeans and T-shirt kind of guy.

What designers do you rock on the red carpet?

Brooks Brothers kindly gave me a really stylish suit for the Flesh and Bone premiere last year. Other than that, I'm still pretty much at the 'buying my own suits' stage!

Tells us about Quarry?

Quarry is set in 1972 Memphis. It follows the story of Mac Conway, a man dealing with returning to life at home after fighting in Vietnam. Through a series of unforeseen circumstances, he finds himself working for an underground criminal group as a hitman. I play Buddy, the longest serving member of that group. Buddy helps show Mac the ropes, and we also get to know more about who Buddy is as the series goes on. He's dealing with his own demons. It's an incredibly well written character and I feel so lucky to play him.

What is one of the funniest thing that's happened on the set?

I think the two days I worked with Ann Dowd - who played my mother - were the funniest. She is a genius of an actor, and would always have some extra little lines that she'd come out with in our scenes together. When you see Buddy laughing in those scenes, half the time it's actually me laughing at Ann.

What other projects are you working on now?

I'm about to head back to Australia to do the play Speed the Plow with a wonderful actress and friend, Rose Byrne.

What is your favorite band?

That one's easy, The Beatles.

Did you take any vacations this summer?

I did visit London for a week. When the weather's great, as it was for me that is just the best city to visit. Had a ball.

What better way to save money than by shopping in your own closet? This time it's all about dressing up a key piece to wear over and over again. With Fall beginning to creep in, we recommend a flowy, oversize button-up blouse or a full-length cardigan. Don't forget to accessorize!

he likes you He Likes You Not.

by Gareth Rice

You are expected to pull off what might seem like an impossible trick. There's no boiling it down to an exact science, especially when alcohol is involved. If you misread the signs then you could succumb to the lure of lust. No matter how many inches of canvas you work, there is a chance that you will fresco a completely different situation from the one in which you find yourself. The oils may be of a piece of the tipsy friendliness that you mistook for attraction.

"The guy over there is staring over at you with a smile. That means he likes you. Go over and talk to him," your girlfriend said when she noticed him checking you out. In the rapture of his watchful attachment you are where you want to be.

Armed with your look of wide-eyed keenness, you go beyond Professor Scully's definition of a smile, as cited by Richard Usborne in his treatise on P. G. Wodehouse: "the drawing back and slight lifting of the corners of the mouth, which partially uncover the teeth; the curving of the naso-labial furrows .... " You show your full horse shoe of lovely teeth. As you bounce between his snatches of conversation and things are going great.

His laughing seems as involuntary as his deep throated mirth. He is sensitive enough to notice the small details like the aroma of your expensive perfume and the perfect red bow drawn around your lips. He avoids telling you that your face is too heavily powdered. You thrive in the space he has allocated you to just be yourself. The flow of positive energy fills the conversation. He exudes the need to protect you but is willing to bask in your independence. Every time you swim out of your red wine reservoir of awkwardness you are pleased that he's standing waiting to dry you off with some more compliments. So far he has made your colors more colorful and it all feels very natural. After the butterflies in your stomach burst into a "He Likes Me" symphony, you're happy to bubble off home with his phone number, but you are innately aware of a more important question: Does he really like me?

If you're a redhead and he's a redhead lover then it's easy. He will show that he likes you by constantly staring at your hairline, precisely at the highest point of your forehead where your alabaster white skin meets your flaming hair. For everyone else: "I know when a guy is interested in me from very trivial signs like calling, texting, saying compliments and doing everything to see me", another girlfriend told you. Laughter also furnishes a clue: What guy would laugh at your awful jokes unless he liked you?

In general, men tend to want to do things for you when they like you. Small things, like buying a drink, a cup of coffee, or a movie ticket. They will say things like "You look beautiful tonight". Stick with me. I've done the research for you. Along the way, though, look out for shy guys who may feign disinterest, because they don't know what to say or can't take the possibility of rejection, or both. Their body language may utter more than their lips. They may like you very much.

If you score well enough on the likeability index then you enter a different chamber of the honeycomb - the longer term. He should overlook your most embarrassing traits and come to accept your piercingly loud belly laugh if you have one. Then, and only then should you hand him the ball and trust him not to run away with it. You will also notice that he will develop an uncanny ability to remember what matters most to you. Once you're on your throne and he's kneeling at the foot of that throne, then, yeah, he likes you lots.

It's fair to assume that women have the upper hand. Women don't need to fossick around in the stacks of the library to know that they already possess oodles of what guys seek most fervently. The next time you get chatting to a guy, set your watch. You won't have to wait very long to realize that he likes you, but is maybe playing hard to get. If you play even harder to get then you would surely find out how much he likes you, or if he is just another quitter who flakes out at the first sign of you making him work for it. As in The Wizard of Oz the power of women is real. To tell if a guy likes you or not you need to make sure and look out for the most reliable signs. Until then you shouldn't follow the Yellow Brick Road.
